

```

package classes;

import java.util.Date;

public class Staff extends Employee {

    public Staff(
        String name,
        String address,
        String phone_number,
        String email_address,
        String office,
        int salary,
        Date date_hired,
        String title
    ) {

        super(name, address, phone_number, email_address, office, salary, date_hired);
        this.title = title;
    }

    @Override
    public void display() {

        System.out.println("Employee");
        System.out.println("Name: " + this.name);
        System.out.println("Address: " + this.address);
        System.out.println("Phone: " + this.phone_number);
        System.out.println("Email: " + this.email_address);
        System.out.println("Office: " + this.office);
        System.out.println("Salary: " + this.salary);
        System.out.println("Date hired: " + this.date_hired);
        System.out.println("Title: " + this.title);
    }

    @Override
    public String toString() { return super.toString() + " Staff{" +

            "title=" + this.title + "}";
    }

    protected String title;

    public String getTitle() {

        return title;
    }

    public void setTitle(String title) {

        this.title = title;
    }
}

```